"I chose to major in Psychology, because I want to help others and to understand their behavior. The greatest values that I learned in the Global Effect Leadership Program was empathy, responsibility, and above all, that God loves me. The biggest challenge I've faced in my life has been the rejection of my father that I've carried ever since I was a little girl. It affects me a lot emotionally, and it's something that I still can't shake off. "
